TREASURES FROM OUR TRADITION

In the seventeenth century, English Catholics, many of them wealthy and well educated, looked to the American colonies as a place to regain a measure of religious freedom. In Ireland, the so-called penal laws were even harsher than in England, as a minority Parliament tried to force the conversion of the population by denying the majority political and economic power. Beginning in 1691, laws were passed that punished dissenters, principally Catholics, but also causing hardship for Jews, Quakers, and others. There were acts forbidding "mixed marriage" or sending children "beyond the seas" for schooling. Catholics were taxed at double the common rate, barred from the legal professions and from university, and not allowed to build churches or own a decent horse. In 1793 the situation began to change, as it became clear that the economic persecution would not drive the majority away from Catholicism. Gradually, laws were repealed until by 1829 freedom was won, although Catholics at university were ineligible for honors, and until the 1920s and the Republic, the Church of Ireland was the state church, funded by the taxes of all citizens.

"Make an offering of ten percent, a tithe, of all the produce which grows in your fields year after year. Bring this into the Presence of God, your God, at the place He designates for worship and there eat the tithe from your grain, wine, and oil and the first born from your herds and flocks. In this way you will learn to live in deep reverence before God, your God, as long as you live."

This year's 22nd Annual Celebration of Culture was a wonderful SUCCESS. I am so thankful for all the people who helped make it such a wonderful event. To mention all the names involved (people who helped set-up, cooked, baked, cleaned, entertained, etc.) would take-up the spaces in our Bulletin. Kudos to Mike Lonero for MC-ing . . . a job well done! I thank all of you from the bottom of my heart and may God bless each and everyone of you who participated in this year's Celebration of Cultures.
